POETRY.

Old Friends.

BY MISS CRAWFORD.

Old friends! old friends! the dear old friends,
That time has swept away!
Ah! who can make the heart amend That never left their sphere, The beacon light that shone above, Our life's dark paths to cheer, Old Friends! Old Friends!

Old friends! old friends! can we forget Those days of golden prime,
When round our father's hearth we met And our merry voices' chime Made the hall ring to the roof with joy, As we sung the song of yore, Or danced to the strains of the harper boy,
On the bright old oaken floor!

Old friends! old friends! as time rolls on,
We miss them more and more;
Those halls are dark where once they shone,
And closed the friendly door;
While colder seems the stranger's eye,
As we pass on earth's dull way,
And think with memory's tender sigh, Of the friends of life's young day.
Old Friends! Old Friends!

Lines

Suggested on hearing that the body of a Female had been found at Black Point, supposed to be one of the passengers of the brig Suttley, of Pictou, N. S.

Wast thou one of that little band, That left for this a foreign shore To seek in this more favored land By toil to increase thy scanty store, Perhaps within thy bosom glowed Those feelings, purest, best of earth, A mother's love hath filled thy heart,
And distant friends could tell thy worth.

Or didst thou leave thy cottage home To brave the perils of the sea, With him the dearest one on earth, His loved and lovely bride to be?
And thou wast one that filled a place Within thy well allotted sphere, Perchance, far better than the best Of those who found thee mould'ring here.

Thou' strangers hands thy form hath laid, Within its dark and silent home, Yet sympathy a tear hath shed That thou shouldst here be left alone, What'er thy name, or where thy home, Or what thou wert, we may not know, But still for thee kind hearts have wept, These lines a humble tribute show.

THE INDIAN LOVERS.

A BORDER FRAGMENT.

In the settlement of the Western Pennsylvania and Virginia, the Ohio river became at length the border between the Whites and the Indians, and was the scene of many a bloody conflict. After the larger tribes had removed farther West, a small remnant of a tribe, once large and powerful, loitered about the Western bank of the river, as if unwilling to leave the sepulchres that contained all that was dear of their ancestors for centuries past.— Between this reduced tribe and the whites, numerous skirmishes had taken place; several had fallen on both sides, and both parties were excited to the highest degree, with that spirit of revenge which prevailed in those early times. Among the most daring of the Indians was the young chief, Yougan, (the "skull breaker," the descendant of a line of Chiefs as far back as their tradition extended; he was their war-leader by birth right and by choice. He was, at the time of which we speak, about thirty years of age, and affianced to Lualla, ("the Queen of the Virginia," the only daughter of the Prophet of the same tribe, and nearly ten years younger. During a winter that was unusually long and severe, hostilities had, for the most part, subsided; but early in the Spring, they ventured across, and made a successful sally upon a small settlement of the whites, obtained several scalps and carried off a number of cattle and horses. A short time after, a party under Yougan, made another excusion, for a similar purpose, but the whites were on the alert, and came upon them in the act of plunder. For a while they gave battle, but discovering the superior number of the whites, they fled, leaving two dead. The arm. He from whom he had received the wound, was a rough hardy Virginian, who had distinguished himself in the border wars, and was called by the savages the "Buffalo-man," from his huge athletic form, and amazing strength. Against him Yougan pitted himself for vengeance; and, as soon as his arm was sufficiently recovered from the wound, with a small chosen band of warriors, he re-crossed the river, came at midnight to the hut of the "Buffalo-man," who fell, overpowered by superior numbers, and was immediately scalped in the presence of his wife, whom they bound and carried off prisoner. The son of the unfortunate man, a lad of twelve years of age, had, unperceived, in the midst of the conflict, escaped, and fled to the nearest house, and reported the death of his father, and the capture of his mother. The news was speedily communicated to the neighbors, and by early dawn seventeen armed men were in pursuit; and so rapid were their movements that they overtook the Indians before they reached the river. The savages, supposing they were pursued by a much larger number than was actually the case, separated and scattered in every direction—each one making his retreat as best he could. The young Chief was so closely followed, that he was entirely cut off from the landing place of the canoes, and so anxious were the pursuing party to secure him, that they permitted the rest to escape. When he came to the river, all the canoes were gone, and a short distance below him he observed five of the whites coming towards him at a rapid rate. Fortunately, there was immediately behind him a ledge of broken rocks, in the cleft of one of which he was soon concealed—and so effectually, that although his pursuers passed in a few minutes after, within ten feet of him, he remained unnoticed.
When the party returned without You-gan, the excitement was intense; runners were sent in every direction, and a council of war called, but as it was very late in the evening before a sufficient number came in, and as the "Old Prophet" had not arrived, the council was adjourned to the next morning.

Lualla, the affianced of Yougan, was more prompt in action. Soon after dark, she hastened to the river, seized the first canoe she met, and was in the act of pushing off, when she for the first time, paused and trembled at the perilous adventure she was about undertaking—for she had thought of no plan, and knew not what direction to take. The pause, however, was but for a moment; for the canoe itself gave her both plan and courage. She discovered from the peculiarity of its shape, that it was the same in which Yougan had, a few weeks before, taken her on a fishing excursion; and this recalled the minute description that he had given her, of a battle fought with a Northern tribe some years before, on the same side of the river on which he now was—the de-scape by concealment in the jagged rocks, which he also described. It then occurred to her that he might again be concealed in the same place, and she immediately steered for the spot. Having landed and examined every part and crevice of the rocks in vain, she, as a last resort called him by name. The young warrior heard with amazement the soft, sweet voice, leapt from his hiding place, and in an instant was in Lualla's arms. Neither of them were able to speak; and when at length he found utterance, his first impulse was to pour forth a thousand thanks for the unexpected mark of her affection—and the next to reprove her for exposing herself to such great danger for his sake; but she stopped him, saying, "Haste, Yougan, haste, or we are lost." They hurried and entered the canoe; but the eye of the whiteman was upon them. The five men who had pursued him, had returned to the landing, and before they had proceeded twenty yards from the shore, two rifles were discharged—the ball from one of which entered the stern of the canoe, and the other struck the hip of Yougan and lodged in the bone. The shock was so great that he was compelled to drop his paddle, but Lualla still retained hers, and while he placed his body between her and the direction from which the bullets came, she continued to use it with the greatest skill. At this moment a band of warriors from their tribe appeared on the opposite shore, and as soon after about went up from the band of dusky warriors, Lualla was strengthened to renewed exertions, and was led to hope that all might yet be well. But this pleasing thought was of short durale's hand; the paddle dropped silently into the water, and the canoe swung round, broadside to the shore—thus exposing the occupants to the fire of the whites. The sharp crack of another rifle was heard, and the sudden messenger entered the brain of Yougan. Lu-alla uttered a wild and piercing shriek, as she clasped him in her arms. The weight of both bodies on one side, was too great for the frail shell in which they were; the light canoe slowly and silently careened; there was a sudden opening in the bright element, then a low, gurgling noise—and Yougan and Lualla had found a bridal bed in the swift waters of the Ohio.

This was the last struggle between the whites and Indians on the Virginia border. Yougan was the last Chief, and Lualla the last branch of a race of Prophets, of a once powerful nation. The remnants of the tribe soon after removed farther West, and were scattered among other tribes.

Early Rising.
"Early to bed, and early to rise, Will make a man healthy, wealthy and wise."
Poor Richard.

The regular hours observed by persons engaged in agricultural occupations, is probably an important reason why farmers, as a class, are healthy and longlived. It is an old and almost universal opinion, that the external air is much less salubrious during the night than the day; and this opinion, which was first drawn from observation, is confirmed by experiments, which tend to show that the air exhaled by vegetables, while the sun is above the horizon, is much more pure and fit for respiration, than when it issues from them in the absence of the sun.— The ill effects produced by the latter are probably best avoided, by seeking a state of repose and inactivity.

The morning air, on the contrary, so celebrated by poets and philosophers, for its benign and cheerful influence on the mind and body, is enjoyed in high perfection by persons devoted to an agricultural life; and the advantages they derive from this habit, in point of health, are doubtless very great.

It is stated on good authority that a person, who was very desirous to protract his existence in this world as long as he was able, made every possible inquiry concerning the regimen and manner of life of those persons who had arrived at a great age, but found no circumstance common to them all, save that they all had observed great regularity in the point of hours; both rising early, and going early to rest.

Narrow circumstances are the most powerful stimulants to mental expansion; and the early frowns of fortune the best security for its final smiles.

WOMAN'S LOVE OF FLOWERS—In all countries women love flowers; in all countries they form nosegays of them; but it is only in the bosom of plenty they conceive the idea of embellishing their dwellings with them. The cultivation of flowers among the peasantry, indicate a revolution in all their feelings. It is a delicate pleasure, which makes its way through coarse organs; it is a creature whose eyes were opened; it is a sense which is awakened. Those who have travelled in the country, can testify that a rose tree under the window, a honeysuckle around the door of a cottage, are always a good omen to the tired traveller.
The hand that cultivates flowers, is not closed against the application of the poor, or the wants of the stranger.

BACHELORS—As so many attempts are making to keep Bachelors in a state of single wretchedness, it may be well for them to listen to what Bishop Taylor says of marriage:—"Single life," says he, "is like a fly in the heart of an apple; he dwells in sweetness but lives alone, and is confined and dies in singularity." But marriage, like the useful bee, builds a house and gathers sweetness from every flower, and sends out colonies and feeds the world, and obeys kings and their order, and exercises many virtues, and promotes the interest of mankind, and is that state of things to which God hath designed the present condition of the world.

A PREDICAMENT—It is most provoking to have an incident occur in church, where everything bears so serious and earnest an aspect, at which you are unable to restrain yourself from laughter.

On a recent Sunday while seated in church, my eye fell upon a gentleman in one of the body pews who, at intervals, impartially brushed what he evidently considered to be a fly from the side of his head, which, however, was but his dickey string, that, sticking up behind his ear, troubled him excessively. He repeated his efforts to rid himself of the vexatious losing all patience, he made a desperate attempt to catch it, and snatching hold of the string, brought it dicky and all, right before his eyes! The sheepish glance which he cast around upon the congregation, as he jammed it into his pocket, stirred up my risibilities beyond all control, and I assure you, I lost the entire benefit of that forenoon's sermon.

Boston Cor. Yarmouth Register.

Combustion of the Willow Tree.—The fact of trees being subject to spontaneous combustion, is wonderful, though well attested, and forms another of those natural phenomena, which can be explained by the scientific. We read in a late number of the Cambridge (Eng.) Advertiser, that the banks of the Cambridge this season have exhibited an unusual number of these cases, occurring principally in growing willows. At one point on the river, in particular, the process was seen going on thoroughly, "It was really astonishing," says the Advertiser, "to look upon a fine willow, in the full vigor of robust vegetable health, pouring forth clouds of smoke from its half-burned stem, and doomed speedily to expire—itsself its own funeral pile."

Cherry and Peach Leaves Poisonous: A farmer lately turned his sheep into a lot occupied by some cherry trees, which had sent up shoots from the roots. The sheep partook of the leaves of these shoots, and were soon seen staggering about the lot, and tumbling upon their heads. Many of them died, when their stomachs were found to contain large quantities of these leaves, which abound with prussic acid, fatal alike to man and animals. It should be known, too, that the stones and twigs, as well as the leaves of the peach, contain prussic acid, and are poisonous.

Painting Houses.—Paint applied to the exterior of buildings late in autumn or winter, will endure twice as long as when applied early in the summer in hot weather. In the former case it dries slowly, and becomes very hard like a glazed surface, not easily affected afterwards by weather, or worn off by the beating of storms. But in very hot weather, the oil of the paint soaks into the wood at once, as into a sponge, leaving the lead nearly dry and ready to crumble off.

TURNIP ROT.—The turnip, which in Ireland and Scotland has been found a very tolerable substitute for the potato, according to the last accounts, is, like the potato, affected with the prevailing rot or blight. In Scotland, the disease among the turnips was so prevalent that fears were entertained that no fat cattle could be sent to England this season. Cattle had already been exported from Aberdeenshire in a lean state, the owners foreseeing the difficulties likely to occur from the loss of the turnip.

Arrival of the Hibernia.

7 Days Later from ENGLAND.

The steamship HIRBENIA, arrived at Boston at half past 6 o'clock, Saturday morning, in 13 1-2 days from Liverpool, with 109 passengers.

The market for Flour and Wheat was no higher than at the time of the sailing of the Great Western, but Indian Corn had advanced 2s a quarter, during the last week. Rye had also advanced.

Not only from England, but from the continent of Europe, including Russia, we have dismal accounts of the progress of the Potatoe rot.

The cotton market was in an excited state. The Caledonia arrived on the 13th September. No sooner were her advices known than the Cotton market underwent a great change. Speculators commenced to operate to an unusual extent, and many of the trade, dreading the relaxation of the unfavorable conjectures respecting the forthcoming crop, which the United States had ventured to send forth, were induced to add to their stores. The demand on the 14th was, therefore, enormous, amounting to no less than 20,000 bales, of which speculators took 10,000 American, and on all descriptions of American below 5d per lb. an advance of 1-4 d per lb. was readily paid—other descriptions were 1-8 d higher.

The accounts from all parts of the country, more especially from Ireland, give the most gloomy picture of the Potatoe crops. Everywhere the blight seems general, and science is confounded in ascertaining the cause. Meetings have been held throughout the country for adopting measures to relieve the distressed in the districts in Ireland where want has already set in.

At a recent meeting of the town Council of Dingall, on an interesting discussion relative to the Potato disease. Provost Cameron stated that Mr Matherson, of Archery, and the Lewes, were prepared without reference to other arrangements, to order Indian corn to the amount of £10,000, to be at hand to supply the deficiency of food now inevitable from the distemper among the potatoes.

The newly installed Government of Ireland, is fully alive to the poverty and destitution which prevails throughout the country. Lord Besborough—an Irishman by birth, a resident landlord, and a philanthropic statesman—is endeavoring to outdo his predecessor in office. Accordingly, we are informed that he is prepared to sanction an assessment of a million and a half, to meet and avert the impending danger. He is, therefore, applying the provision of the Labor Act.

Mr O'Connell had retired from the arena of public agitation. He left Dublin on the 10th ult., and on his progress to Darrynane Abbey received several addresses, expressing unlimited confidence in his political honesty, splendid talents, and invincible perseverance. Mr O'Connell returned replies of the usual character—blaming and abusing the Tories; but lauding to the highest pinnacle the present Government.

The Customs receipts at Liverpool have increased within the last few weeks to such an extent as to astonish the officers in the Longroom. The daily receipts at the Customs, until lately, reached from £7000 to £8000; whereas the receipts on several days recently have been £13,000 to £14,000. Remembering that raw materials and other articles, which form the most bulky part of our commerce, are now mostly "free," what a wonderful expansion of trade is involved in the one fact!

Mr King, the American Minister at the Court of France, has resigned his functions, and having quitted his hotel in the Faubourg St. Germain, awaits only the reply to a despatch he has forwarded to the Cabinet at Washington.

The news of the closing proceedings in Congress, with Mr Polk's proposal of peace with Mexico, gave rise to considerable comment in the Parisian journals.

Many of the newspapers have given articles about the recent alterations in the American tariff. The National, the republican organ, says that they bear very severely upon France, but have been adopted as vengeance against M. Guizot for his dabbling in the Texas business. The Constitutional gravely states the like absurdity.

According to the returns made by the officers of the French excise, the stock on hand of Champagne wine in the Department de la Marne, was, at the date of the 1st of April, 22,847,971 bottles.

On the 27th ult., the King of Sweden signed an ordinance abolishing all games of chance at the watering place of Ramloese, (Scania,) the only place in Sweden where gambling was allowed.

It is a remarkable fact, that, whilst we hear of the Potatoe disease in every part of the world, in the Shetland Islands the poorest of the soils, the Ultima Thule of Britain it is unknown.

DENMARK.—At a late sitting of the States, a proposition was made and received with enthusiasm in favor of the total and immediate abolition of slavery, and the emancipation of all the slaves, 24,000 in number, in the Danish possessions in the West Indies. A complete reparation in money will be made, to the proprietors.

Capture of Santa Fe.

Intelligence has been received at St. Louis, from Santa Fe, August 18th, confirming the capture of Santa Fe by Gen. Kearney, without being obliged to fight for it. Gov. Armijo, with an army said to have been 4000 strong, came out and made a show of fight, but his soldiers refused to commence an engagement, and the Gov. incontinently fled to Chihuahua.

Gen. Kearney immediately issued an address to the Mexican soldiery and populace, proclaiming himself Governor of New Mexico, and raised the American flag on the public stations. The principal officers of the government took the oath of allegiance to the American government, and the administration of Gov. Kearney commenced without molestation or further delay.

From the St. Louis Republican, Sept. 25. GEN. KEARNEY IN SANTA FE.—We published yesterday, exclusively, a minute account of Gen. Kearney's capture of New Mexico, and of his taking possession on behalf of the United States, of the entire department.

It would seem that Gen. Armijo had actually 4000 men at his command, but very badly armed; and that on the 16th they left for the place appointed as the battle-ground. When he got there, however, a council of his officers was called, and, "much to his satisfaction," they refused to fight. His second in command, Col. Archuleta, was exceedingly valiant up to a late date, but very suddenly changed his entire views of the necessity of the quarrel.

Very soon after this determination, Gov. Armijo turned his head towards Chihuahua, followed by a few dragoons. It was supposed that Gen. Kearney would nominate a Mexican for the office of Governor of the department, and appoint an American as Secretary. All those in office, who were thought to be trust-worthy, would in all probability, be continued in their places.

Gen. Kearney, it was supposed would leave a force of 2000 men at Santa Fe, and march in a short time to California, with a like number.

The Traders who were overtaken by Gen. Kearney's, were close at hand. but it was believed that they would not be able to make sales of their goods in Mexico. They would be compelled to make their way slowly down the Del Norte, awaiting the result of Gen. Wool's movements against Chihuahua.

A letter says that the troops reached Santa Fe after a most fatiguing march of 14 days, losing several hundred horses and mules on the road. After taking formal possession of the place, the people were expected. This is quite an indefinite statement. But few of the citizens had fled the town, and these were daily returning. The Army was encamped upon the highlands south of the town, and had commenced building a fort.

The same letter adds:—I confess I do not see the importance of this fortification; in my opinion, the whole country, from the Crossing of the Arkansas to this place, is not worth what it has cost the Government to march the troops here; no man who has not visited this region can form any idea of the country.

At St. Jose, Vegas, and St. Miguel, Gen. K. called the people together and caused them to promise allegiance to the U. S.; he made speeches to them, and administered oaths to the different Alcades.

From the Army.

The steamship Galveston arrived at New Orleans on the 26th ult., from Port Lavaca and Galveston. The following paragraphs from the Galveston Civilian, contains all that we have from the army; and it is merely in confirmation of direct intelligence previously received.

The Kentucky regiment, under Col. Marshall, numbering about eight hundred men, is encamped at the mouth of the Lavanna, with two hundred men on the sick list, owing to the fatigues of a long march. The regiment has just received orders to proceed without delay to Camargo. The Tennessee regiment is daily expected. Neither of these regiments were intended to join Gen. Wool.

An arrival at Port Lavaca from Matamoros bringing dates to the 29th, reported that news had been received very late from General Taylor, to the effect that he was marching upon Monterey with 8000 men, and was within a few miles of that city. Monterey was said to be defended with a force of 15,000 Mexicans, under General Ampudia.

The brig Mary arrived at Galveston on the 23d from New York, with a heavy freight and fourteen passengers.

Ship Massachusetts and bark Edith, both propellers, of this port, have been purchased by the United States government, the former at $10,000 and the latter at $17,000 less than their first cost when ready for sea. The government has certainly made an excellent bargain for two more beautiful or well-built vessels before not to any port in the country.—Boston Post.

The ship Sea, which left New Orleans on the 20th ult. for Brazos, carried a half million of dollars in gold, silver, and Treasury notes, for the payment of the army.

Many people drop tears at sight of distress, who would do better to drop sixpences.

NEW ORLEANS, Sunday, Sept. 27, 1846.—The weather is the commanding topic of interest just now. It has been raining pretty steadily for the last two or three days, and the chilling north west wind which has prevailed is anything but comfortable. Those who neglected to lower the windows of their sleeping chambers last night suffered some.—Counterpanes and blankets were withdrawn from hidden recesses, and all awake chilled and shivering. This day might well pass muster for a day in November. What effect this extraordinary weather will have upon the health of the city is yet to be seen. Some anxiety is felt and expressed on this head, and I perceive the board of health yesterday reported twelve cases of yellow fever, and my friend, Dr. Weddaborn, has just entered the room where I am writing, and informs me that he left the Charity Hospital but a few minutes ago, where he found eleven cases of the fever, two having died last night. Notwithstanding these reports, the board, Dr. W. and other physicians, declare that the disease does not rage as an epidemic. The disease is sporadic.

Cor. of Mo. Daily Advertiser.

Gen. Kearney's proclamation on taking possession of Santa Fe is published; he will hold New Mexico on both sides of the Del Norte with its original boundaries aboves the inhabitants from all allegiance to Mexico; will protect religious rights, and persons and property against the Eutaws and other hostile Indians; but will punish those who retain arms against our troops, and confiscate their estates. The present laws to be continued till the United States provide a free government, which will be as soon as possible. The proclamation of Com. Sloat, to the people of California, on taking possession of that place, declares his intention of hoisting his standard in Monterey, and carrying it throughout California; all civil rights are guaranteed to the people; the alcaldes and judges are invited to continue in their offices, and such persons as refuse to become citizens of the United States are to be allowed sufficient time to close up their affairs and depart.

FROM NEWFOUNDLAND.—A disastrous gale swept the colony on the 19th, 20th, and 21st ult. causing immense destruction to life and property. Among the buildings destroyed in the city of St. John's was the Natives' Hall, which was blown down at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, burying a woman and child in the ruins; the former is likely to recover. A brother and sister were also instantly killed by some falling timber at the same place.—Several others were more or less hurt.—Several bridges were carried away.—One boat with six or seven men on board, in trying to make the harbor, was overwhelmed by the waves, and the bodies are continually being washed on shore. It has been found impossible to form anything like a correct estimate of the entire injury.

At Quidi Vidi, a loss of not less than £1000 falls on poor fishermen, the proceeds of whose summer's labor were destroyed in a few hours. At Grates Cove, in Trinity Bay, about 70 fishing skiffs lay at anchor, and 60 of them totally wrecked and lost. In addition to the great loss of skiffs and loads of fish and oil, the poor people's fishing stages and flukes were destroyed. They are likely to suffer much from the want of food and clothing in the course of the coming winter. We understand also that the state of things is truly melancholy and distressing in other parts of Trinity and Conception Bays.—Boston Post.

A MORMON.—We yesterday encountered an English Mormon, who was on his way home, having concluded to leave the Saints and Republicans to settle the question of their rights, without his aid. He appeared to be a sensible man, and we could with difficulty reconcile his position with his intelligence, until he voluntarily let us into a little of his history. He said he was persuaded to emigrate from Lancashire, England, by one of the Mormon leaders, not through any particular regard he had for their religion, but because their organization was represented to him as a mutual manufacturing association, where it was intended to carry on different branches of business, such as cotton spinning, weaving, cloth manufacturing, and cutlery, &c., and all the proceeds of their labor was to form a common fund—If short, it was represented as modelled after the Fourier associations. He embarked $700 in the speculation and emigrated to the States.

On the passage out, he says, his faith in the Mormon Elder, was much shaken by having discovered an improper intercourse between him and a female proselyte, who was also moving out to Nauvoo; but, as the Elder had his money, he concluded to hang on. On his arrival at the Mormon city, the troubles broke out about Joe Smith, and his death followed, and it had been a scene of turmoil since, until, having satisfied himself there was no peace in this country, he concluded to go home, minus his $700, sit down in some old English chimney corner, and curse the Yankees the rest of his life.—Although we tried to show him the difference between certain folks and certain other folks, he refused to see it, and has resolved to shake the dust of our country from his feet.—St. Louis Revue.

He that cannot forgive others, breaks the bridge over which he must himself pass, for every man hath need of forgiveness.

A CUTS MIZZLE.—A contractor on the Athol section of the Vermont and Massachusetts railroad, was suspected by some of his creditors of doing altogether too large a business on tick for honest purposes, and they made arrangements to secure themselves. A deputy sheriff arrested him one day last week on a single writ for some three or four hundred dollars. He manifested some indignation, but soon agreed to go to Fitchburg and settle the debt. Two keepers accordingly went with him to that town, and another officer followed close after to nab him on a second writ just as soon as the first was paid. It was night when the parties put up at Clifford's in Fitchburg. The debtor was locked up in the chamber of the upper story, and the keepers slept guard by the door. In the morning, however, the bird had flown.—Escaping by a window to the roof, he had descended to the ground by the eaves spout, and when last heard from was seated in the cars at Worcester, waiting for the Iron horse to take him far away. Barre Gazette.

MISSING ACCIDENT.—Mr John Glover, of Dorchester, while at work in a steam planing machine, in that town, on Saturday last, had his left hand caught by the machinery and drawn within the range of four knives which revolve with great rapidity. His arm was instantly severed about two inches below the elbow. He is likely to recover of the wound. As he was a left handed man the loss will be greater than if his right arm had suffered.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—Two young men, belonging to Burlington Vt., Edwin T. Chaney, a brother of Prof. Chaney, of the Burlington University, and Henry Thompson, son of the late Judge Thompson, were capsized in a boat when sailing in the bay from Burlington on the 24th ult., with a young man named Robert Conolly. They all succeeded in clinging to the boat, but the two whom we have first named died of exhaustion and fatigue before the boat drifted on shore.

GREAT IF NOT UNPRECEDENTED SPEED.—The steamboat Ningara, Capt. Elsworth, left New York on Monday at four minutes past 7 A. M., arrived at Poughkeepsie in four hours; and arrived at Albany in nineteen minutes past 3 P. M. Making the trip in eight hours and fifteen minutes, including the landings, in all sixteen.—Albany Argus.

CHANGES OF THE MIND.—The mind is always undergoing fine changes. Impressions fade and their distinct new edge is worn off. As an example, observe a portrait of some friend, during his presence, and again during his absence. In the first case, the likeness will be more marked. You compare it with the original, and a thousand points of difference appear. But when the original is away, the picture grows upon you, and attains at last almost the force of reality.

AMERICAN INSTITUTE.—This association is holding its 19th annual fair at the Castle Garden, New York. The conveniences of the Garden are excellently well adapted to the wants of the society, though its location is a little out of place. The contributions of mechanical, agricultural and ornamental industry, have crowded the great amphitheatre of the garden, and a rich show of the specimens of each have been presented. The premiums of the Institute bear especial reference to American silk culture and manufacture, and the specimens of this branch of industry are probably exceedingly rich and varied.

AN ASSAULT ON A CLERGYMAN.—Dr. Upfold, pastor of the Episcopal Church of this city, was violently assaulted and abused, as we learn, by Major Dunn, this morning. The major it seems is a member of the church, or professes so to be, and had applied to be admitted to the communion table, against which several communicants remonstrated with the pastor. The doctor took Dunn to one side, and advised him of the opposition, and had finally to tell him that if he persisted in coming to the table he would have to pass him by. Against this the major remonstrated with some demonstration of violence, from which the doctor escaped at the time by closing the vestry door as a barrier between them.—This morning Dunn met Dr. Upfold, and commenced a violent assault upon him, inflicting upon him a blow on the head and another on the side. The leading churchmen are greatly excited, and Dunn if not already arrested, will be, and held to bail for so great an outrage. Dunn, we since learn is in jail.—Pittsburgh American.

THE DROUGHT.—The long continued drought is the subject of general complaint from our country correspondents; they say, the ground is so dry that the dust follows the plough in clouds; in many cases the land is so hard that it cannot be broken at all. The old saying is, "a dry fallow for a good crop of wheat." We sincerely hope that it may prove so in this instance at least.

Richmond Standard.

Isaac Franklin, who began life as a boatman, died recently at his residence in Sumner county, Tenn., leaving an immense estate, the most of which he bequeathed to a Seminary to be built on his own plantation in that county. The property so bequeathed, is estimated at $900,000.

INDIAN CORN.—M. W. Phillips of Edwards, Miss., writes to the Cultivator: Experiment has convinced me, that so far as profit is concerned, there is no vegetable grown north of the tropics, that will yield the same quantum of food for man and beast, to the rod square, as Indian corn, particularly in a clay loam, well ameliorated by coarse manure. Six square rods of corn, planted four inches apart, in drills three feet apart, will, after the middle of June, this year, furnish a daily baiting of stalks or suckers to a cow, until the corn is ripe when the remaining stalks will be still more nutritious, if cut as soon as the corn is hard.—When thinned out to about eight inches apart in the drills, each stalk left will produce from one to two ears. The richer the soil, the less the necessity of hoeing, as it then contains an atmosphere of its own, which needs little aid from tillage, after the first hoeing.

"All's well that ends well."—We learn from the Caddo Gazette, of Shreveport, that a short time since a negro man belonging to Gen. T. T. Williamson, of that place, went down a dry well about twenty feet deep, on a ladder, and when near the bottom fell. His fall was distinctly heard by one of the General's sons who was standing by the well, and it was supposed that he had accidentally lost his hold, and on its being ascertained that he was unable to speak, a bucket of water was thrown upon him, and then a bottle of camphor. He was heard to breathe very loudly and as it seemed with much difficulty. This suggested the possibility of the existence of carbonic acid gas, which is so deleterious to animal life, and a bucket of lime was then thrown down, and in a short time he was enabled by the direction and encouragement of his master to raise his head, and soon to recover so far as to crawl up the ladder.

DROUGHT IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.—The Dover Inquirer, referring to the almost unprecedented absence of rain in that State, says:

"The streams were probably never known to be lower than they are at the present time. Our paper maker, Mr. Flagg, of Exeter, informs us that for thirty-four years the water had not been so scarce at his mill; he has been under the necessity of suspending operations for several weeks past. The Rochester Factory, we understand, has also been compelled to stop for want of water.—The mills of the Cocheco Company, in this town are yet running, but drawing Bow Pond down to the bottom."

PROFITABLE MEADOW.—Mr Alger, of Bridgewater, gathered from two acres of meadow 296 bushels and 17 quarts of cranberries, which at $2 per bushel would amount to the handsome sum of $600.

FATAL TRAGEDY.—On Saturday morning last, 19th inst., a coroner's inquest was held over the body of a deceased infant, apparently a few days old, found carelessly thrown into a garden up town.

The excitement and developments occasioned by this unnatural occurrence resulted in a fight on Tuesday night, 22d inst. between Dr. I. Towell and Dr. Geo. T. Ellis and his young brother.

On Thursday morning, 24th inst., about breakfast time, the parties, who were at houses directly fronting on Main street, near the public square, got sight of each other, and after several hostile demonstrations, a buck shot from the gun of Dr. Towell, the only one fired, penetrated the right breast of Dr. Ellis, who expired in a few minutes. There was also a ball through his arm, and another which grazed his head. The act is generally conceded to have been done in self defence.

We forbear all comment upon either the exposure of the infant on Saturday, or the fatal result on Thursday. Where the guilt lies is yet unknown, but the heart that hides the awful secret must feel a torture deeper far than the laws of man or the censures of public opinion could ever possibly inflict.—Franklin (La.) Review.

Philander Jones, a farmer worth $6000 and a good citizen, has been indicted for the murder of his wife Louisa in Meredith Delaware county, New York. They had lived unhappily for many years, and slept in different parts of the house. In the night Mr. Jones called up his wife's mother and his children, pretending to have found his wife dead from a fall down stairs. She was about to be buried, when the neighbors took a vote and an inquest followed, upon which the unfortunate woman's skull was found to be broken in several places as with a hammer.

Jenk's hemp warehouse, a large and extensive establishment at St. Louis, was entirely destroyed by fire on Sunday, the 27th ult. The total loss is about $75,000, partly insured. The hemp destroyed was nine-tenths of the article in the city.

A VALUABLE HORSE.—Messrs. Kipp & Brown, of New York, own a horse that they have worked in an omnibus for thirteen years, during which time he has run three trips a day. (Sundays excepted) from their depot in Hudson street, to the Battery and back, which is 7 miles—making a distance of 21 miles a day, with but comparatively few exceptions, as he has been rarely sick or disabled. The distance therefore travelled over the rough pavements of New York, by this noble specimen of a horse, is 55,449 miles; and judging from appearance, he will be as serviceable for the next 10 as he has been for the last thirteen years.

A NEW TRICK.—A few Sundays ago, a very respectable looking and well-dressed man called at the dwelling house of a merchant doing business down town, and enquired of the servant girl for the keys of the store, stating that he was sent for them by the merchant, who had just come in town, (having been absent from the city,) and wanted to go to the store. As good luck would have it, the girl did not know where the keys were kept, and apologized to the gentleman because she could not find them. He then bowed very politely and retired.

The life of an elderly man, belonging to Salem, was brought to a melancholy termination. His name was Knight, and some years ago, in a fit of intemperance, both of his feet were so badly frozen that it was found necessary to amputate them. He has since sometimes been supported in the workhouse, from which he eloped about two months ago. Last Friday he was found under a wall in Boxford or Topsfield, where he had been lying nine or ten days. He was removed and taken care of, but survived only a couple of hours and was buried in Salem.

Rattlesnake in the Park.—One of the pets of a certain rattlesnake man made its escape yesterday afternoon in the Park, and created quite a sensation among the idle patrons of that promenade. He was soon caught, however, without doing any mischief. What a delightful city this would be, if all the dangerous animals that are within its borders, were confined in cages!—New York Express.

Horrible Affair.—One of the most heartrending tragedies occurred on Thursday last, about midnight, that it has ever been our fortune to record. M. Edes had got into a row with his wife, and she had sent for Mr. John Green, the husband of her sister, to protect her. Mr. Green first sent his son, a youth about grown, and afterwards followed with some other men about his house. When he got into the yard of Edes's house, he made threats, &c., which induced Edes to come out. Just as Edes opened the door young Green stepped up before his father, who had previously armed himself with an axe, and received the blow which his father aimed at Edes. The axe penetrated through, just under his shoulder blade, to his heart, and he died instantly, uttering but one groan. The parties to this melancholy affair live some five miles up the river. No legal proceedings has as yet been instituted, and we doubt very much whether there will be.—Warsaw, Ky. Journal 26th ult.

Very near an awful Accident.—Sunday afternoon, (says the Albany Knickerbocker) the Greenbush ferry boat, with a load of passengers, which were nearly all way across the river. There were several ladies and gentlemen and a number of children on board at the time. The confusion and fright were awful. The passengers and hands managed to escape by climbing on top of the wheelhouse.—The cattle saved themselves by swimming ashore. The passengers were taken off immediately by small boats from the shore.

Probable Suicide.—As the Old Colony train was coming in last evening on the further side of South Boston, a man was seen walking on the side of the road, and just as the locomotive came up he stepped directly on the track, and was of course knocked down and run over. The engineer drew up directly and announced that a man had been run over. A crowd was soon assembled around the body.—Both legs had been cut off and the head split horizontally just above the ears.—Of course the poor man was quite dead. No one could recognize the individual.

A female shop-lifter quick on the heel. In the police court at Boston, on Tuesday G. F. Sanborn brought up Mary Hughes, a small woman, well done up in a black veil and an extensive cloak, for stealing a comb from the store of A. S. Jordan, a pair of shoes from Theodore H. Bell, a piece of printed calico from Charles Messenger, and a piece of muslin de laine from William Bird, all within ten minutes on Monday evening. She was detected by a gentleman in the street just as she left Mr. Bird's store, and the articles named were found upon her. Sentenced to four months in the house of correction.

LIVE WELL.—They only are truly happy who live well—who have taken the volume of inscription as their guide, and are beckoned on by the hand of Virtue. Do you wish to die happy?—Live well. Let no hope of gain tarnish your honor; no praise blind your eyes. The man who pursues a correct course—is a firm in his integrity—is a being that all respect and look up to with reverence and love. The wealthy may be courted—the talented may be followed and honored, caressed but the man of real virtue is loved with true affection.—He may not excite the crowd, or draw after him a train of noisy admirers, but silently he exerts a good influence that will be felt as long as God exists.

State Elections.

MAINE.—The political complexion of the Legislature, still remains in doubt—63 Whigs, and 49 Democrats have been elected to the House of Representatives, and upwards of 60 members are yet to be chosen.
DELAWARE.—The Whigs have again succeeded in carrying this State. In New Castle county, the majority for the Whig inspectors was 80 and in Kent 150.
Sussex county, has been partially heard from, and is believed to have gone for the Whigs.
MARYLAND.—Telegraphic advices announce the election of C. M. Kysner, the Whig candidate for Senator in Baltimore city, by a majority of 7; and of J. P. Kennedy and A. B. Patterson, Whigs, and of Cox, Boughman and Wear, Democrats, to the House of Delegates.

The EPISCOPAL CONVENTION in New York, adjourned sine die on Saturday last, after adopting a resolution directing the Trustees of the Episcopal fund, to pay to Bishop Onderdonk out of the income of the said fund, the sum of $2,500 on condition that sufficient security shall be given to refund the said sum, if it shall be hereafter determined by any competent authority, that no part of the fund could be rightfully appropriated for the Bishop's support during his suspension.

Mr. Nathan Sisson was killed in Somerset, just over the Ferry, last Thursday afternoon, by being blown up while blasting a rock. He had flashed the priming twice, but the charge did not go off. He then undertook to put his priming wire down to the charge, when it ignited the powder, blasting the rock, and carrying away nearly one half of the head of Mr. Sisson, and one hand, besides otherwise maiming him very much.

The venerable Dr. WATERHOUSE died at his residence in Cambridge on Friday last, at the advanced age of ninety-two years. He was born at Newport, in this State, and resided there until 1775, when he was sent to London to be placed under the charge of the celebrated Dr. Fothergill, a maternal relative. After pursuing his studies there and in Edinburgh, he was sent to the continent to complete his education, and graduated at the renowned University of Leyden. On his return to his native land, he was elected to a professorship in Harvard University, and sixty-two years ago was chosen Professor of Natural History in Brown University. He was ardently attached to the profession of medicine, as well as to kindred sciences, particularly botany, in which he acquired a high reputation. In 1811, he published a work entitled the "Botanist," dedicated to the elder President Adams, which displayed great attainment in this interesting branch of natural science. He wrote extensively for the press, little of which has survived him, except his "JUNUS." In this work, which was issued in 1831, he labored with considerable ingenuity to prove that Lord Chatham was the author of Junius. Posterity having come to the conclusion, with a unanimity rare in any disputed historical question, that Sir Philip Francis was the real writer of the "Letters," Dr. Waterhouse's volume did not attract the attention it intrinsically deserved. It is full of sketches and anecdotes of noblemen and statesmen whose memories are indissolubly associated with the American Revolution. In the political controversies of the past generation he took a prominent part, and was strongly attached to the faith, as well as the person, of Mr. Jefferson, from whom he received patronage and office. He did not sympathize with that distinguished philosopher in his theological speculations, but was a firm believer in the Christian dispensation, the hopes and consolations of which sustained him through many scenes of trial and adversity.

DR. WATERHOUSE.—In our notice of the demise of this gentleman, we omitted to allude to one of the most important events of his life. He was a friend of Dr. JENNER, the discoverer of vaccination for the small pox, and was one of the earliest converts to the theory of that illustrious man. He immediately introduced the system into this country though not without encountering the same violent opposition here, that it received in Europe; opposition, not alone from the ignorant and indiscriminating mass, but from men the most distinguished for their professional and scientific attainments.—But now, after the lapse of half a century when vaccination meets with almost universal favor, its great discoverer and his early disciples are known only to the thoughtful readers of history. So true it is, that the real benefactors of their race are neglected and forgotten, while the scourges of mankind occupy the highest niche in the temple of fame.

ACCIDENT.—As the laborers on the new bridge were employed yesterday in digging away the hill, near the penitentiary, a large mass of earth fell and covered three persons, one of them Edward Doucette, was killed, another, Peter Finn, was taken out hardly alive and is not expected to recover; the other, named Corgrave, was not seriously injured. Several others with difficulty escaped the tumbling mass, which continued to fall while the workmen were engaged in extricating the bodies and greatly impeding their efforts. The bottom of the hill is clay, the superincumbent earth is sand.

Dr. D. Jayne's Carminative Balsam.

This is one of the most efficient, pleasant and safe compositions ever offered to the public, for the cure of the various derangements of the stomach and bowels, and the only article worthy of the least confidence for curing Cholera Infantum, or Summer Complaint, and in the above and following diseases, it really acts like a charm, viz:— Dysentery, Diarrhoea, or looseness—Cholera Morbus, Summer Complaint, Cholera, Griping Pains, Sour Stomach, Sick and Nauseous Stomach, Heartburn, Waterbrash, Pain or Sickness of the Stomach, Vomiting, Spitting up of food after eating, and also where it passes through the body unchanged,—want of appetite, restlessness, and inability to sleep, wind in the stomach and bowels, hysteres, cramp, nervous tremors and twitchings, sea sickness, faintings, melancholy, and loss of spirits, fretting and crying of infants, and for all bowel affections and nervous diseases.
Prepared only by Dr. D. Jayne, No. 8 South Third Street, Philadelphia & sold by all respectable Druggists throughout the United States.
For sale in Newport, by Dr. R. R. Hazard.

We make the following extract from a letter to the proprietor of the Dandelion and Tomato Panacea:—
'I have tried several prescribed remedies for my occasional attacks of Dyspepsia and consequent Debility, and suffering of all the painful and unpleasant symptoms that follow in its train, the whole being principally caused by the Fever and Ague. I have found no remedy that will compare with your Panacea, and several of my friends for whom I have procured it of your agent here, concur with me in opinion respecting its merits.
(Signed)
J. S. KELLY, Brighton.

This testimonial is but a solitary instance from many hundreds, of the efficacy of this Panacea in all cases where a purifier of the blood is required, and is unequalled for any of the complaints incidental to this season of the year.
For sale by James Kidder, Jr., East Boston.

Meteorological Diary, FOR SEPTEMBER 1846.

Table with columns: THEROM, WINDS, GENERAL ASPECT OF THE WEATHER. Rows for each day of the month.

Mean average of this Month, 66 84 Mean do of September last Year, 62 95 Mean do of Sept 1845, the coldest, 58 34 Sept. in last 25 years, 62 95
Mean do of Sept. 1819, the warmest, 69 61
Sept. in last 25 years, 62 95

This month has presented a higher temperature than any corresponding month for the last 25 years. There are only three warmer Septembers to be found on our record, viz:—1819, 68 61; 1820, 67 63; 1821, 66 95.

During the whole month there were 17 days in which the weather was clear all day; 11 days in which there was fog in the morning, and two days in which it rained in the evening.

Altho' we have had no storms in this vicinity, yet there has been heavy gales from the 7th to the 10th in the Gulf of Mexico, on Lake Erie, and in the Atlantic off the Southern coast, from which a large number of vessels suffered, and many lives were lost. There was also a heavy gale on the 19th and 20th, being the one in which the steamer Great Western came near being lost.

BRONCHITIS.

Beaver, Pa., January 22, 1841.
Dr. D. JAYNE.—Dear Sir: Having been for a long time afflicted with Bronchitis, a disease which annually sweeps away thousands of the human race to a premature grave, under the mistaken name of Consumption; and having heard of the wonderful efficacy of your Epectorant for Coughs, Asthma, Difficulty of Breathing, and every other disease of the Lungs, I purchased two bottles of it, and am happy to inform you, and all the sons and daughters of affliction, that it immediately suppressed the cough, removed the pain and difficulty of breathing, and produced a free and easy expectoration, and very soon effected a complete cure.
JONATHAN DAVIS, Baptist Minister, Beaver, Pa.
For sale in Newport, by Dr. R. R. Hazard.

Jayne's Tonic Vermifuge.—Some medicines, warranted to "destroy worms in children," are apt to destroy children too. This is not the case with Jayne's Tonic Vermifuge. It does not contain a single ingredient which can harm the most delicate infant, and yet it expels worms from the system with a facility and certainty perfectly astonishing. Nor is this its only salutary property. It is a fine stomachic, and in remittent and intermittent fevers has been administered with most gratifying results. Obsolete cases of Piles have yielded to its influence, and its tonic qualities render it an excellent medicine in the convalescent stage of all diseases. It is exceedingly pleasant to the taste.

Dr. Jayne's Hair Tonic, for the preservation, growth, and restoration of the hair, and which will positively bring new hair on the bald head, and prevent its falling out, or turning grey. This is an excellent article, and has, in hundreds of instances, produced a fine growth of hair on the heads of those who have been bald.

Read the following from the Boston Mail May 3, 1844.

"Jayne's Hair Tonic."—After giving the article a fair trial, we unhesitatingly pronounce it to be what it professes, the best article, without any exception, in use for the restoration and preservation of the human hair.—We know of numerous instances where the hair has been restored to heads which have been bald for years; and we think we cannot do a greater favor than to recommend to all our readers who are losing their hair, to make trial of this Tonic immediately."

Prepared only at No. 8 South Third Street, Philadelphia.

From the Rev. Ira M. Allen, Philadelphia, June 3, 1838.
To my Personal Friends:—I would say, that I am well acquainted with Dr. Jayne, M. D., and know him to be a respectable Physician and Druggist, of this city—a gentleman in whom entire confidence may be placed. I have tested in my own case the beneficial effects of his Carmine Balm, and have greater confidence in it than all other medicines of the kind. His Epectorant is equally celebrated and efficacious.

PURIFY THE BLOOD,

GOODWIN'S INDIAN Sarsaparilla and Sarsaparilla Bitters, for the cure of Jaundice, Dropsy, Contiveness, Heartburn, Biliousness and Liver Complaints, Indigestion, Impurities of the Blood, and general Debility of the system. These inestimable Bitters were first introduced since, and so signal has been their success, and so highly are they recommended by all who have used them, that the proprietor is induced to offer them to a generous and enlightened public on a more extended scale, & at a price which renders them in the power of all to possess.

Sarsaparilla has long been known as a most efficient purifier of the blood. In these bitters its virtues extracted on the most scientific principles in a highly concentrated form, is combined with the most useful Roots and Herbs of the Vegetable Kingdom, in such a manner that acting upon the Stomach and Bowels, they produce a thorough cleansing of the system, whereby it is speedily restored to its wonted tone and vigor.

They may be taken with perfect safety at all times and in all climates. Try them, and if not satisfied the money will be refunded. To prevent counterfeits, the inside label of each bottle will be signed by the sole proprietor.

Hints for the Warm Season.

THIS wonderful compound combines MEDICAL POWERS over all other preparations ever formed for the relief of those diseases for which it is recommended, such as Headache, Dizziness, Sleepiness, Nausea in the Head, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Nausea or sickness in the Stomach, Loss of Appetite, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Fever and Ague, Pain after Eating, Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Jaundice, Contiveness, Determination of Blood to the Head, Piles, Coughs, Colds, Pain in the side, back, limbs and joints, Rheumatism, all Chronic Diseases, Scrofulous Humors, Salt Rheum, and all Cutaneous Eruptions of the Skin, General Debility, &c.

The Dandelion & Tomato Panacea is particularly recommended in cases of INDIGESTION and DYSPEPSIA. The following are some of its distressing symptoms: Palpitation of the heart, heartburn, loss of appetite, pain after eating, languor, melancholy, restlessness, &c. It will cure the worst diseases of Rheumatism,

and will eradicate mercury from the system, infinitely faster and better than the common Sarsaparilla preparation. The DANDELION and TOMATO PANACEA is, as all must be aware, from the ingredients of which it is compounded, the best as well as the safest

Spring & Summer Medicine

now before the public. Spring and Summer are the seasons when Diarrhoea & Dysentery prevails, only use a wine glass of the Panacea in the morning for one or two days and you will get immediate relief.

The Piles, because it cleanses and enables the stomach to discharge into the bowels, and causes a free circulation, and regulates the whole system, and thereby prevents Costiveness.

In cases of Costiveness, either of recent or long standing, it has proved itself effectual after all other remedies have failed.

Scrofula or King's Evil.

all other eruptions of the skin are caused by the impure state of the blood, and to have pure blood a medicine should be occasionally taken. The Panacea is wonderful in its effects for purifying and Cleansing the Blood, and is therefore a preventative for all eruptions of the skin and will eradicate

Humors

of long standing, and in fact it is requisite for the promotion of Sound Health
from the most exhausted constitutions.
